

WELCOME TO ALVES & BURGHEAD I/w KINLOSS & FINDHORN

FOUR CROSSES FROM ONE TREE

Kinloss

Findhorn

The linkage was marked by the presentation of a Celtic Cross to each of the four former congregations. The crosses shown linked above were made by Dan Ralph, a joiner and accomplished carpenter from Burghead, from wood from a single tree.

WHAT ARE OUR COMMUNITIES?

In the East - Alves is a very small 'ribbon village' on the main arterial route from Inverness to Aberdeen (A96); the surrounding area is mainly agricultural. Burghead is a large village with an active harbour, with new residential development spreading eastward to Cummingston; RAF Lossiemouth (an active and expanding airbase) is nearby.

In the West - Kinloss is a small village with an Army Base as its immediate neighbour, and a New-Age community (Findhorn Foundation) between it and Findhorn; all is surrounded by agriculture. Findhorn is a small coastal village, predominantly of retirees and holiday homes, with a strong sailing club and other water-based activities.

In summary, the Charge has four differing communities, two congregations and is served by four church buildings.

WHAT ARE THE CHALLENGES?

- The present demographic of both congregations is of a committed but ageing population - we need to attract the youthful element available from within the current communities – eg Army and RAF personnel, and their families.
- We should be extending our mission to support the young children in the primary schools in Alves, Burghead and Kinloss.
- The community within the Findhorn Foundation attracts people seeking meaning in their lives – we should offer ourselves as examples to help them toward finding a Christian path.

WHO DO WE NEED?

We would hope that our new Minister would be:

- Youthful at heart, with the enthusiasm to encourage spiritual growth, and to expand the current congregations.
- One who can work with different communities and lead them towards a common goal.
- One who can build on the already solid foundations within the communities.
- One who can inspire the congregations to expand the church's mission within our communities and beyond.
- One who can engage with the communities' young people, through school chaplaincy if possible.
